Provenance:
This collection was transferred to the Mercy Heritage Center, Belmont, North Carolina, in November 2011 from the Sisters of Mercy Northeast Community Archives in Windham, New Hampshire. Prior to 2006, the collection was held at the former Albany Regional Community’s Motherhouse, in Albany, New York.

History:
The Albany Regional Community of the Sisters of Mercy was founded in Greenbush, New York in 1863 by four sisters from St. Catherine’s Convent in New York City. In 1868, at the request of Bishop Conroy, the sisters founded St. Peter’s Hospital in 1868. The Albany Community continued to grow, expanding ministries to include education and an orphanage.

In 1928, the Albany Community moved to a new Motherhouse on New Scotland Avenue in the city of Albany. At this time, the Community also began mission work, sending sisters to St. Thomas, VI in the 1926, and later Beirut, Lebanon and Alaska. In 1958 the Albany Community opened Maria College and Mercy High School on the Motherhouse grounds. A 1992 fire partially destroyed the Motherhouse, after repairs and renovations, it re-opened in 1994.

Scope and Content:

The collection is organized into two main subgroups, Administrative and History, and organized into thirteen series based on function, location and format. Oversize items are filed separately in the oversized shelving section of the repository. Photographs, with the exception of those filed in H500 Audio/Visual, are filed with the subject, location or individual that they document. The collection includes administrative records relating to community governance, documentation of individuals, convents, works (ministries) and missions. The bulk of the collection dates from the 1950s to the early 1990s. When possible, original order was maintained.
