Regulations for use of Archival Materials

1. All archival materials must be used in the archives or the place designated by the archivist. No food or beverage may be brought into the research area. All backpacks, purses, brief cases and laptop cases must be left with the attendant before entering the research area.

2. Hands should be clean and free from any creams or lotions as the oils may cause damage to the materials.

3. Use only pencil when taking notes; no marks or erasures are to be made on the documents. Note paper or notebooks should not be placed on top of documents when writing as this sometimes leaves an impression on the document.

4. Use of laptop computers will be allowed at the discretion of the archivist.

5. Use only paper as bookmarkers, never objects such as paper clips or rubber bands. Never fold (‘dog ear’) the edge of the pages.

6. Photocopying is done by archivist and only if condition of materials will not be harmed. Please consult the archivist if you wish to make a tracing or rubbing of archival material.

7. Use of digital imaging devices including cameras and cell/smart phones, must be approved by the archivist.

8. The researcher should keep the documents in the order they are arranged. When finished with the material provided, please let the archivist know, and additional material will be brought to you if desired.

9. Sisters of Mercy of the Americas, Mercy Heritage Center Belmont, North Carolina is to be credited on all documents and photographs used in publication or display (a reproduction fee may apply). A copy of the publication, thesis or dissertation will be sent to the Heritage Center.

10. The researcher must assume responsibility for following the copyright laws if permission is given by the archivist for the use of the material for publication.

I understand these regulations and agree to abide by them.
