History:
Bishop Bernard O’Reilly, Bishop of Hartford, wrote to Mother M. Frances Warde in Pittsburgh, PA requesting sisters for Providence. His request was granted and on March 5, 1851 Mother Frances and four companions, - Sisters Josephine Lombard, Paula Lombard, Camillus O’Neill and Joanna Fogarty - left Pittsburgh for Providence.

Frances Warde immediately opened St. Xavier Academy for girls. Within a year a boarding school opened at St. Xavier’s. Classes were held in the basement of the then Cathedral building.
By the fall of 1851 there were twenty-two Sisters. Despite anti-Catholic prejudice and a near riot in 1855 in front of the convent, the Providence foundation continued to grow and send sisters out to new foundations, including Manchester, NH, Hartford, CT, Rochester, NY, Nashville, TN and Fall River, MA.

Upon the formation of the Sisters of Mercy of the Union in 1929, the newly formed Province of Providence combined the Providence, Fall River, New York and Ogdensburg communities. In 1931 the Belize Community (founded in 1883 by Mother Austin Carroll) joined the Province of Providence as well. In 1935, New York and Ogdensburg were split to form the Province of New York. The Province expanded its works into Honduras in 1959.

The Province of Providence became part of the Institute of the Sisters of Mercy in 1991 as the Providence Regional Community and combined with other regional communities to form the Northeast Community in 2006.
